Dear Ms. Darcy,

I am writing an application for the vacancy of an elementary teacher in your school. As four years of experience as an elementary teacher in a reputed International school.

Being graduating from Columbia University I completed my elementary education training as I have a strong interest in a teaching career. After teaching in an international school I believe that my skills and experience in an educational institute will add value to your school's faculty.

Teaching is becoming my passion day by day. My strong initiative is to cater to changes among children and challenging teaching environments. Therefore increasing weeding levels through multiple modalities, creating fun reading challenges, and encouraging students to be lifelong learners with confidence in their abilities and potential. I stimulate student collaboration and leadership to promote flexibility and a learning environment. As an experienced elementary teacher, I can prepare lesson plans on daily basis to create multi-dimensional lessons and encourage students learning, preparing assessments for the individual candidate's performance and evaluating them.

I have experience to communicate student progress, behavior concerns, and academic difficulties to their parents using consideration and professionalism to improve students and their academic performance. As an experienced and motivated elementary teacher in mentoring students and organizing curriculum makes I an ideal candidate to support your school's individual growth through an exploratory curriculum.

Hence, I would like to discuss my skills and experience to serve a student equally with my qualifications and my capabilities, and potential.

Thanks for your considerable time and will look forward to hearing you.

Sincerely,

Estelle Thompson
