

Essay on Importance of Newspapers

Newspapers are one of the best means of propagation. They touch all aspects of human life and give us the latest information about the development taking place in different parts of the world. They deal with the social-political, scientific, and cultural activities of the people. They are a means of business advertisement.

There is a special reserved for editorial comments and public criticism. As such, there devolves a great responsibility on newspapers. They should represent all public affairs in their true light. Newspapers are printed in almost all the regional languages. They are the mirror of the world.

Through newspapers, we can get information about the matches being played in other countries. Through newspapers, we can get knowledge about space technology. Newspapers tell us through their different articles how we can improve our health.

Through different ads in them, we can apply for jobs. The newspapers are helped in arranging messages through matrimonial. They also give us information about the tenders, issued by the Gov. and others by industries.

Hence, nowadays, newspapers are an important part of our daily life. Newspapers are cheap and the best way for getting information all over the world.