

Write a Short Essay on Population Problem or Explosion in India

India is a great country. We are progressing day by day. But there are many problems before our country. India is facing many problems. The population problem is one of them.

This problem is a subject of great concern to us. More population will consume more natural resources. There will be a rapid decrease in forest land. The increasing population will demand more multi-purpose projects for which we need more capital. So we must check this alarming rate of population growth for our future welfare.

The best solution to the problems created by the population is to control its rapid growth. We must limit the size of the family. We need family planning. A family with two or three children can live more happily than that which has many mouths to feed.

The operation, use of medicines, and contraceptives are the various methods of birth control. The people must be taught the advantages of family planning. The government has been taking various steps to check the growth of the population. Family planning is being given top priority. Family planning centres have been started by the government and private agencies.

Hence, the population explosion is the greatest problem before us. It should be controlled at once for our best future.
