

Descriptive Essay on Grandfather

Love is the greatest gift a person has ever received." - Richard Garnett

The above statement certainly acknowledges the bond between grandparents and grandchildren. No matter how fast the world goes, this bond survives. In life, our grandparents are our most ardent advocates. Now that I look back on that time, my grandfather has become the most influential person I have ever known.

Almost all of us have grandparents in our life to have fun with. Especially our grandfather, we all had a special space for our grandfather. I, too, had a grandfather whom I loved a lot.

My grandfather is very sweet and soft by heart. He is a very humble man. He has been present at every stage of my life. This year marks the age of seventy-nine. Despite his age, he is a very active member of our family. His delightful personality always illuminates our spirit. My grandfather acts like a root that unites our whole family.

My grandfather has many interests. He loves farming. Our yard is full of bushes and herbs of all kinds. He is a great home cook. I often see him picking tomatoes in the garden and creating new dishes for me. He says cooking is healing. As a retired principal of the Public School, books have been a source of pride.

Her hobbies include watching movies and listening to her grandmother's songs. I consider myself fortunate to have the opportunity to live with my grandparents. Whenever my mom or dad scolded me, grandpa always helped me. We share a special obligation. I keep talking to her about my daily affairs.

Every weekend, we all sit down and watch a horror film together. Sometimes, she lets me cook for her. Picnics are our favourite time. Grandpa never let me down. He encourages me to try new things. Whenever I feel nervous, a simple nod from him is enough to boost my self-confidence.

He considers me his best friend. And she feels like she's reviewing her childhood when I'm with her. Our laughter is contagious. After retiring, I began to spend more time with him. Our bond grows stronger over time.

Grandpa taught me the basic principles of life. I have learned from him the essence of kindness, love, and love. He has strengthened my will and transformed me into a better person. She is my supporter, and I love her very much. He has never lost anyone in his life. And his presence has made our lives better in many ways. Thank you for having him next to me. And I hope you live a long and healthy life.

Also Read,

- Descriptive Essay on My Classroom in 700-750 Words | Free Pdf

- Descriptive Essay on Grandmother in 500-600 Words | Free Pdf

